Hi-Y is a service club for junior and senior boys who have maintained a C-plus average in their previous two years of high school. As part of their activities this year, they painted the rest rooms and doors of the gym, sponsored the annual Grizzly Club dance, and stationed a safety patrol at dangerous intersections near the school. Also, they repainted the basketball goals, sponsored two convocation programs, including an amateur talent show with student participation; and worked with the Tri-Hi-Y on various joint projects such as the Teen-Canteen at the Boys' Club. Last summer the club sent two officers to camp, where the club received honorable mention in the state.

The 1953 football season was off to a start when approximately sixty boys reported for physicals in mid-August. With graduation taking many of Coach "Doc" Lash's starting eleven, he was faced with the problem of replacing them. With the material available, he began to fill the vacancies. Captain Leon Morris, Don Webb, Don Pelley, and Kenneth Townsend took the guard and tackle positions. Leo Morris filled the center position, and Crosby Houston and Frank Weaver were the ends. In the backfield, Ralph Bellamy and Ronnie Ramsey run the plays from the half-backs, and Ronnie Montgomery and David Lewis alternated at the quarterback slot. Charles Wood started at the fullback spot and was later replaced by Harold Dillow because of a leg injury received during scrimmage. Del Jackson alternated at fullback along with Dillow.

Although it was not a successful season from the winning standpoint, Franklin can well be proud of the sportsmanship and never-die-determination displayed throughout the season by the team.

BEST SEASON IN YEARS!

For the first time in six years, the Franklin Grizzlies Cubs defeated the top county teams to gain possession of the highly prized Sectional crown. At the Regional, Franklin met Scottsburg and was defeated after a hard fought game, 55-53.

This was the climax to a successful season. Games were lost, but more were won. The teams defeating the Cubs, did so only after thirty-two minutes of hard fought basketball. The Cubs defeated top teams such as Howe, Greensburg, and Gary Tolleston.

The Cubs finished up in a three way tie for place in the SCC, and came through with a record of sixteen wins, and nine losses. Congratulations go to Coach Robert Evans and his boys for a swell season and a job well done.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1954, considering ourselves thoroughly drilled in English, social studies, and history, knowing that we are the liveliest and possibly the sweetest class yet to enter or leave our beloved and beautiful school, wish to leave our last will and testament to be excuted in the order that follows:

- I, Mary Allred, will my seat in choir to Johnnie Marie Graham.
- I, Cecilia Arnbs, will my size 12 skirts to Mary Etta Harmon.
- I, Harley Baxter, will my adoration for Sharon Meek to Ronnie Scott.
- I, Marvin Beaman, will my quiet ways to Roberta Weekly.
- I, Ralph Bellamy, will my golden tenor voice to Nathan Rainey.
- I, Wilma Brown, will my ability in the Business Ed. department to Shirley Grooms.
- I, Janifer Buchanan, will my place at Prince's to the juniors.
- I, Carolyn Burdsall, will my merry parties to Shirley Phillips.
- I, Pat Burris, will my gum chewing ability to Bobby Seitz.
- I, Junior Buster, will my tattle-tale ways to Phyllis Goodman.
- I, Barbara Carlisle, will my supposedly mild and meek manners to Bonnie Shepard.
- I, Alice Jane Catt, will my nickname, "pussy-cat", to Marianne Earl.
- I, Jim Cooley, will my beard to Jerry Webb.
- I, Barbara Crist, will my coal-black hair to Helen Wolfschlag.
- I, Bob Cummings, will my place on the basket-ball team to Jim Williams.
- I, Stephanie Dart, will my camera to Bob Townsend.
- I, Bill Dil-lard, will my nickname, "sweet-grease", to Kenneth Mahoney.
- I, Harold Dillow, will my masculine physique to Billy Bunnell.
- I, Max Dunn, will my Victorian manner to Stewart Yount.
- I, Jim Fewell, will my name to the Shell Oil Company.
- I, Tom Foley, will my locker to Charlene DeCoursey in case she needs it for further use.
- I, Nola Fowler, will my letter-writing ability to Shirley Henderson.
- I, Jim Gee, will my adoration for Robert Mitchum to Connie Richardson.
- I, Martha Giger, will my ability to "catch and hold" a man to Lynn LaGrange.
- I, Margaret Hardin, will my seat in basic-math to next year's unlucky seniors.
- I, Crosby Houston, will my Liberace hair-do to Jon Buchanan.
- I, Del Jackson, will my job at Krogers to the DE club.
- I, Jane Johnson, will my perfect posture to Billy Jo Follick.
- I, Joe Jones, will my self-satisfaction to Malinda Hardin who really doesn't need it.
- I, Faye Legan, will my ambition for the teaching profession to Barbara Fisher.
- I, Dave Lewis, will my "economic helps" to Dick Vandivier who will need them badly.
- I, Eugene Lewis, will my love for the girls to Steve Williams.
- I, Sarah McClain, will my profound statements to Einstein if he can interpret them.
- I, Nancy McGinnis, will my multitude of hand-cleaned combs to Judy Jo Hougland.
- I, Bill Mann, will my place in the country to Johnny Mac Boyd and Kathleen Sturgeon.
- I, Margaret Mardis, will my clean jokes to the juniors who are in dire need of them.
- I, Sharon Meek, will my fabulous collection of bracelets to be made into handcuffs for those who need them.
- I, Dan Mitchell, will my Charles Atlas course to Ronnie Fentz.
- I, Marshall Mitchell, will my scientific interest in evolution to Dee Williams.
- I, Norma Mitchell, will my repeated use of "loaded" words to Patty Richardson who needs the experience.
- I, Bob Mitchell, who has nothing to will, won't.
- I, Ronnie Montgomery, will my speaking "ability" to Joe Johnson.
- I, Leo Morris, will my keys to the church to Moose McGlocklin.
- I, Leon Morris, will my shy (one can hardly tell the difference) ways to Ann Childs.
- I, Dick Neitzel, will my ability to say a lot about nothing to Loyce Harmon.

I, Josephine Park, will my petite figure to Shirley Duncan.
 I, Joan Partenheimer, will my easy ways to Sharon Jackson.
 I, Betty Patterson, will my novel book reports to Evelyn Green.
 I, Don Pelley, will my card technique to Fay Matthews who is taking a correspondence course in games of chance.
 I, Bob Rairdon, will my height to Janice Miller.
 I, John Records, will my crush on John Records to Jane Davis.
 I, Libby Rector, will my interest in class presidents to June Duckett.
 I, Joan Rhude, will my private parties to Steve Suckow.
 I, Deloris Roberts, will my jolly ways to Pat Hattibaugh.
 I, Sandy Scott, will my courteous manners to Don Jones who could use them.
 I, Clement Shepard, will my preference for older women to all so inclined.
 I, Fannie Short, will my ability to see all, tell all, and know nothing to Imogene Smith.
 I, Leona Sievertson, will my position in the Business Ed. office to Jimmy Milliken.
 I, Betty Smith, will my high scholastic standing to Donna Walters.
 I, Charlotte Snider, will my curly hair to Judy Fetterly to add to what she now has.
 I, Charles Snyder, will my "hot" Studebaker to Bob Foster.
 I, Roy Sosbe, will my job at Wake-Up Station to Lennie Buchanan.
 I, Joan Spahr, will my interest in younger men to Judy Records.
 I, Katie Starling, will my job in the office to Sally Mitchell.
 I, Thelma Steinfeldt, will my hand-outs of chewing gum to Larry Jacobs.
 I, Ray Stiver, will my last chair in the trombone section to Don Coffey.
 I, Joyce Thomas, will my "naturally" blond hair to Mary Yount.
 I, Kenneth Townsend, will my curly hair to Ginny Coleman.
 I, Virginia Vandivier, will my ability to eat in study hall to Charlie Wood.
 I, Carolynn Walters, will my ability to go steady with the same fellow all my high school days to Beverly Follick.
 I, Joan Waltz, will my job at the Johnson County Hospital to Kathleen Oates.
 I, Don Webb, will my nickname, "Ora", to Russell Smock.
 I, Marcia Whetstine, will my walks in the graveyard to Ronnie Ramsey.
 I, Claude Wood, will my southern accent to some rebel.
 I, Kathryn Wright, will my zealous oratorical ability to Lowell Hendricks.
 I, Mary Lou Wright, will my evil stare to Bill Littel.

In witness thereof, we, the class of 1954, have to this one will, written, set out hands and seal this third day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-four.

Carolynn Walters, Attorney-at-law

Witnesses--Ginnie Vandivier and Jimmie Cooley.

THE ELECTRON

February 1, 1974

EDITORS SEE INAUGURATION

Principal Jim Fewell and civics teacher Joan Waltz took us to Washington recently. After a long dull ride in Marvin Beaman's Senate Special, we took a short exciting ride in Clement Shepard's taxi to the swanky hotel run by Barbara Carlisle. Doorman Claude Wood clawed a dollar tip from us as he whistled for a bellhop, who turned out to be Charles Snyder. The clerk, Ray Stiver, checked us in and told the bellhop to take us to our rooms. Elevator boy (gee, I'd like to see the men where he comes from) Don Pelley delivered us on the 142nd floor and we went to our rooms where we interrupted chambermaid Joan Partenheimer, who was busy sleeping.

We had an excellent dinner in the hotel dining room, where head chef Leona Sievertson reigns supreme. Waiter Junior Buster spilled our teacher's coffee down her neck, but he brought her another cup free. After dinner we went straight to bed in preparation for our exciting day at the inauguration.

Early in the morning we raced downtown to get good seats for the parade. As we waited, we saw rival popcorn saleswomen Faye Legan and Martha Giger, fighting over customers. Across the street, flagpole sitter Nancy McGinnis was perched high above the Capitol dome. She had said that she would stay there until the President appointed Bill Dillard, a machine politician, Secretary of State.

Finally the parade came into view and leading it was Barbara Crist on her horse. Following her was Nola Fowler, world's greatest baton twirler, and Carolyn Walters, with her Purdue Marching Band.

At the end of the parade came the President-elect, Chief Justice Jim Gee, Fanny Short, and the Rev. Harley L. Baxter. They were in a car rented from Margaret Mardis' Cadillac agency. When they arrived at the platform, the oath of office was administered and President Bob Mitchell was married to his beloved Fanny in the same ceremony.

Of course, Washington's most famous hostess, Carolyn Burdsall, was holding a party that night in honor of the new President and First Lady. All the tickets had been gone for weeks, but we were fortunate enough to get a few from Bob Rairdon, the notorious ticket scalper.

When we arrived at Miss Burdsall's plush apartment we were met at the door and announced by the butler, Crosby Houston. Once inside, the first person we noticed was Leo Morris, who was doing the shag with Pembroke to the music of the Indiana Barn Dance Boys, Leon Morris, Don Webb, Dick Neitzel, Del Jackson, and Dave Lewis. The boys were doing a special number, "In the Pines", composed by Harold Dillow.

The song was interrupted by the butler, who announced Madame Cecilia Ambs, ambassador to Andorra, and her bodyguard, Jim Cooley. With her was the first woman Justice of the Supreme Court, Delores Roberts, Senate floor leader Thelma Steinfeldt, and Speaker of the House Virginia Vandivier.

They were just in time for the buffet supper, consisting of food provided by cattleman Kenny Townsend, who was angry at his prize bull, and Mary Allred, Wilma Brown, and Alice Jane Catt. The girls own the ABC Food Company (Always Better Canned).

After supper Dr. John M. Records tried to make a speech on "Why I Support Socialized Medicine", but he was interrupted by the Fire Chief, Bill Mann, who arrived with the glamorous Veep, Sharon Meek.

When Records had subsided, Eugene Lewis, a fabulously wealthy Texas oil man, started calling a square dance, but no one responded except ballet dancer Sarah McClain and Joan Rhude, president of Bethlehem Steel.

At this point, the President got bored and prepared to leave, followed by most of the guests. As the party appeared to be dead on its feet, we went back to the hotel.

The next day--our last in Washington--we spent sightseeing around town. Our first stop was the FBI building, where we met the new director, Rob Sosbe. Very kindly he gave us all the facts in the mysterious disappearance of movie actress Josephine Park. It seems that she drove into the tunnel under Young's creek and didn't come out on the other side. The case has not yet been solved, but the Communists are suspected. On the way out of the building, we met Special Agent Betty Patterson, who was reporting in after solving the robbery of Washington socialite Patty Burris' jewels.

After we left the FBI, we decided to drop in on the Patent Office. In the lobby we met Dan, Marshall, and Norma Mitchell. They told us that they have formed a corporation, the 3M Atomic Inventions Company, of which Norma is the business manager, Dan the production manager, and Marshall the brains. They were in town to patent their new invention, an atomic organ for world-famous musician Jane Johnson. Leaving the radioactive Mitchells, we went on to meet the Director of the Patent Office, Mary Lou Wright. She told us that her chief difficulty is people that invent useless things and want her to patent them. "If I could get rid of those Mitchells, this would be a good job!" she shouted.

Of course, we couldn't go home without visiting the Pentagon. As we entered the enormous building, the first person we saw was Robert Cummings, Joint Chief of Staff, and his secretary, Libby Rector. With them was Secretary of Defense, Joan Spahr. Continuing down the interminable corridor, we ran into U. N. General Assembly, President Betty Smith, who was practicing a speech she was supposed to have made the preceding week.

We wandered into an isolated office where Marcia Whetstone and Charlotte Snider were busy tabulating a survey on the "Frequency of Occurrence of Mumps Among 4-Star Generals". The girls told us that their boss, 2nd Lieut. Ronnie Montgomery, told them to tabulate that survey three years ago, and forgot about them, so they've been tabulating ever since.

A visit to the Capitol seemed appropriate as the climax to our day of sightseeing. As we came in we were nearly knocked down by the world's oldest page boy, Tom Foley. He was delivering an urgent message, from Clerk of the Senate Margaret Hardin to Stephanie Dart, concerning her radio broadcast of the Senate debate the next day.

Going into the almost empty House chamber, we found farm lobbyist Joyce Thomas and Chevrolet representatives Sandra Scott and Janifer Buchanan practicing their handshakes and cheery smiles on each other.

On our way out, we found ghost writer Katie Starling in her secret office busy writing a speech in case any Congressman needed an extra one the next day. The last thing we saw as we went out was Kathy Wright, Max Dunn, Ralph Bellamy, and Joe Jones, scrubbing the Capitol steps.

debate team

The varsity debate team is composed this year of Cecilia Ambs, and Fay Matthews who debated affirmative. Also, Jim Cooley and John Records who debated negative on the national high school debate topic which was "Resolved That The President of the United States Be Elected by a Direct Vote of the People." The team won fifty per cent of their matches that included the Ball State Tournament at Muncie.

GIRLS'

The Girls' Trio composed of Pat Hattibaugh, Cecilia Ambs, and Kathleen Oates, sang at many important functions during the past year.

TRIO

They have entertained such organizations as the Lion's Club, and Kiwanis Club. They have also lent their talents to many school activities.

To our friend, a swell class sponsor . . .

We the class of fifty-four are very proud to dedicate our yearbook, a retrospect of the pleasant memories of our high-school days, to our friend and class sponsors, MR. VONDA PETRO, who, by his guidance in class projects, has helped to make these six years we have spent at Franklin High School, among those most memorable in our lives.
